How to Survive School

Here are some pointers on how to survive school. You never know when you’ll need them!

Firstly, you need to make a good impression on the teacher. Be as nice as you can bare to your teacher (and yes that might mean you’ll have to be a teacher’s pet).

Secondly, don’t show off in class, teachers hate that, even though you might have a really, really good excuse. Another way to impress your teacher is to get good marks in all subjects. This is essential if you want to survive in school, because if you do this you will hopefully get the teachers off your back.

Another good way to fool the teachers into thinking you actually like school is to keep your bookwork neat and tidy. This shows the teacher you’re committed with your schoolwork. But probably the best way to survive school is to avoid conflict with other students (at least until schools over).

Finally, be enthusiastic about schoolwork and you’ll be fine in school I think.
